SERIES CONCEPT

Agricultural Enforcement Officers are field agents and inspectors (peace officers) of the Department of Agriculture, and as such, enforce all State agricultural laws and regulations. Incumbents inspect and monitor agricultural products and livestock entering the State by stopping commercial and private vehicles carrying agricultural commodities or livestock at mobile inspection points and on highways; inspect plant materials for the presence of agricultural pests and for compliance with plant quarantine regulations; and ensure compliance with animal health laws, quarantines and brand inspection regulations.

Determine violations of plant/pest regulations and issue citations as appropriate; make preliminary identification of insects and diseases; send specimens to specialists for further identification; and intercept and dispose of condemned plants and agricultural products.

Escort vehicles carrying rejected agricultural products, commodities, plants or livestock to the State border for return to point of origin, or escort vehicles carrying commodities to a specific destination for inspection or enforce animal/plant quarantine hold orders.

Conduct inspection, investigation and enforcement duties to determine ownership of livestock; deter, investigate and/or solve livestock crimes; and ensure compliance with State and federal animal health and disease control laws.

Receive requests regarding the proposed sale, change of ownership, slaughter, or movement of livestock out of the district across district lines or out of state; visually inspect livestock to examine brands, marks, tattoos or other characteristics of animals; clip or shave animals as required to clearly observe markings; record information on transportation documents or other standardized forms.

Check health records of the animals; issue brand inspection certificates; calculate and collect fees according to established rates and procedures; send fees and original certification to the division office according to established policies and procedures.

Assist local law enforcement agencies in investigating agricultural or livestock crimes as assigned; gather and secure evidence, interview witnesses and prepare reports for criminal prosecution.

Regulate livestock auctions; check each animal before it is sold; determine legal ownership through the identification of brands, marks, and other characteristics; enforce animal health laws; issue brand inspection certificates to new owners; and collect applicable fees.

Perform related duties as assigned.

* Reflects a 3-grade, special salary adjustment granted by the 2007 Legislature to improve recruitment and retention.
